

I never learned how to love. I realized what that was all about, much later in my life. I was a rascal but retired at the age of forty-one and I am proud to say that I now am a loveable old codger with an abundance of love in my heart, an incredible, enviable real world education and much to say about a lot of things. Having run the race, flown the flight plan, navigated the waters, dived the depths, traveled the world, founded the company, raised the family, understood my faith, I can say without apology "I captured it" all of it.
